

Bars are cooled by air.
There is a region of the cooling bed where water spays accelerate the cooling. After that, air cooling again.

